AN INFAMOUS SCHEME HOW THE FORCE BILL WILL OPER-ATE IN THE NORTH.

A BILL WHICH IS FULL OF DANGER.

Congressman Flower Says the Senate Will Pass the Bill, and Exposes Some of Its Infamies.

"This force bill, permits a chief supervisor "This force bill, permits a chief supervisor to recommend to the court the appointment of three federal supervisors, two of which shall be of one party instead of, as now, one from each party, to be inspectors of election in each election district in any congress district. These supervisors of election under the law need not be supervisors of the election district in which they vote. Now, we will take, for example, the state of Connecticut in 1888, when the democrats carried the state by not less than 400 majority. There are four congress districts in the state, and about 100 polling places in each district. That would require under the new election law the appointment of 1,200 supervisors. Now, suppose that the chief supervisor should appoint 800 democrats and 400 republicans. He can give them while they are registering the voters and taking a house to house canvass and on election days from $3 to $10 a day. They would be employed from five to six weeks under the bill. On election day the chief supervisor may station the 800 democrats at different polls from which they themselves vote, thereby depriving them of an opportunity to vote, and take good care that the republicans remain in the wards where they cast their ballots. Inasmuch as Connecticut was only carried by 400 majority, it can be readily seen just how the republicans to recommend to the court the appointment of was only carried by 400 majority, it can be readily seen just how the republicans could reverse this and transfer the state to the republican presidential electors and at the same time elect all the congressman. EXPORTING THE VOTERS.

"If this would not be sufficient machinery "If this would not be sufficient machinery to do their work they have another remedy under the law, which is that the supervisor and deputy United States marshal may consult together and appoint as many United States deputy marshals as they think necessary to win a republican victory. Now, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New Hampshire are all in one United States judicial district. What is to hinder the republicans, if they are still in doubt about Connecticut, from taking from 1,000 to 2,000 democrats for United States marshals, giving them eight days' pay at $5 a day and transferring them into New Hampshire, and taking 1,000 from Rhode Island and putting them into Connecticut? Now, to putting them into Connecticut? Now, to make New Hampshire solidly republican, they could take 1,000 and put them back into Rhode Island. By this trick, Connecticut and Rhode Island would thus be made strongly republican, and Mr. Reed and Mr. Lodge could counting to period.

republican, and Mr. Reed and Mr. Lodge could continue to praise the republicans as the best counters on earth, and still maintain the cry of an honest ballot and a fair count.

CASES IN FOINT.

"There would be nothing under this law, should it become a law, to stop them in carrying the Orange, Rockland and Sullivan district of our own state, or the Schoharie, Otsego and Herkimer district, both of which districts have now 200 democratic majority on a full vote. There is nothing in the law to prevent the chief supervisor and deputy United States marshal from appointing 50,000 United States marshals for eight days in this city at $5 a day. This bill was not formulated so much for use in the south as it was in the northern democratic states and in the doubtful districts.

"Were it not for the money the republicans

"Were it not for the money the republicans are distributing through the various congressional districts in the United States, I should prophesy a larger democratic majority in congress than we had in 1889. As it is, with all their money, I believe that the local county, congressional and state committees will see that a full vote of the democracy is polled, and that we will win the next house by thirty majority.

AN ALDERMAN SLAIN.

He Meets With a Tough in a Gambling

CHICAGO. October 26.—[Special.]—Alderman William P. Whelan was shot and mortally wounded early this morning by George H. Hathaway, a gambler, in Mat Hogan's saloon, rendezvous for the sporting element, Whelan, John McGinnis, an officer of the health department, and Hogan were sitting at a table when Hathaway came. Whelan, who was under the influence of liquor, called him and asked him to have a drink.

The Twenty-Fourth Anniversary.

HARRISBURG, Pa., October 26.—The twenty fourth anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid and fourth anniversary of the Freedmen's Aid and Southern Education Society is being celebrated in this city, and has brought together many of the most eminent clergymen in the Methodist Ediscopal church, among them Bishop John H. Vincent, Bishop Foss, Philadelphia; Bishop Ninde, Topeka, Kan.; Rev. Dr. Buckley and others.

New Orleans, October 26.—The steamship Elisa, from Palermo, with 1,038 Italians on board, arrived this morning at the wharf of the Northeastern railroad, and the immigrants all came ashore, the inspectors having found their papers correct. A detachment of police on the scene preserved order.

The Ninth Move.

The Ninth Move.

New York, October 26.—Mr. Tschigorin sein his ninth move in "Evans's gambit," and his tenth move of "two knights defense" tonight. They were at once forwarded to Steinitz, who, it is expected, will forward Tschigorin's moves together with his replies tomorrow morning. Tschigorin took fortyeight hours consideration for his moves.

Time on the Wheel. New ORLEANS, La., October 26.—R. G. Betts today made twenty-five and fifty mile records on the safety wheel. Twenty-five miles were covered jin one hour, thirty-two minutes and eleven seconds, and fifty miles in threel hours, twelve minutes and forty-six seconds.

SEVENTEEN DAYS WITHOUT FOOD. The Terrible Condition of a Demented Mother.

WHEBLING, W. Va., October 26.—[Special.] Mrs. Brannan, of St. Louis, the demented woman who jumped from the train at Clarks ville, October 9th, and ran to the hills, leaving seven small children in the car, was accidentally found today.

She was hiding in the fodder shock, within three-quarters of a mile of town. A negro looking for a stray colt heard groans from the shock, and tore it down, discovering the woman completely helpless from njuries she had received in her flight.

She had been without food or water for seventeen days, and exposed to the drenching rains and cold weather. She was taken in charge by the authorities and her friends notified by telegraph. She is still under the delusion that some one is following her to murder her, and begs her rescuers not to inform her St. Louis relatives of her whereabouts. Her children are safe in charge of relatives near Philadelphia Physicians say Mrs. Brannan may recover if p. perly

SECESSION TOUCHED ON.

But it is Promptly Repudiated by a Con federate Veteran. JACKSON, Miss., October 26 .- [Special.]-The constitutional convention considered the bill of rights article yesterday. The report of the committee embraced the following section from the constitution, viz.:

That the right to withdraw from the federal union on account of any real or supposed griev-ances shall never be assumed by this state, nor shall any law be passed in derogation of the paramount allegiance of the citizens of this state to

The following substitutes were offered: That the state of Mississippi is a co-equal mem ber of an indissoluble federal union of indestruc tible states.

That the right to withdraw from the federal mion shall never be assumed by this state.

There was considerable discussion, during which the right of secession was touched on per se. General Lee said as the officer who carried the order to fire on Fort Sumter and as one who surrendered with General George Johnson, he found out that secession was not only impossible but wrong. He did not believe that any confederate soldier who carried a musket for four years would ever again believe that secession was right. He was in favor of the section as reported by the committee. The substitutes were rejected, and the section as it appears above, adopted by a decided vote.

SHOT BY A WOMAN. Bud Sawyers Will Have to Pass in His Checks.

EUFAULA, Ala., October 26 .- [Special.]-Bud Sawyers, a white man of this place, was shot, and it is thought mortally wounded, by woman named Lockhart, last night, about 10 o'clock.

Bud went to Mrs. Lockhart's house, and demanded admittance. He was under the nfluence of liquor, and when he demanded admittance and was refused, he kicked on the door and threatened to break it in, when she shot him, striking him in the abdomen, and it is thought mortally wounding him. Up to this writing he is still alive, but not expected to live. Nothing has been done with the woman as yet. She is still at her house.

BLAINE IN CHICAGO.

He Will Not Make Any Political Speeches While in the City.

CHICAGO, October 26 .- Secretary Blaine is the guest of his son in this city. He arrived here this morning in a special car attached to the Pennsylvania train. The party consisted of Secretary Blaine, Mrs. Blaine, Miss Harriette Blaine and Wilfiam Walter Phelps, minister to Germany. From the depot the party was driven direct to Emmons Blaine's home

Emmons Blaine, when asked in regard to his father's programme, said:

The Records Made.

Philadelphia, October 26.—The board of managers of the amateur athletic union met in this city last night, the session lasting until 3a. m. It was decided to accept Owen's record of 94-5 seconds for 100 yards made at Washington. The question of accepting Cary's record of 91-2 seconds for the same distance, was postponed for future consideration. All the glove contests under the auspices of the amateur athletic union will hereafter be of four hours' duration, instead of six, as at present.

HAMPTON'S CALCULATING LETTER.

Ben Tillman Again Airs His Charges Against the Men Who Are Opposing Hin A Lively Attack on Haskell.

CHARLESTON, S. C., October 26.-[Special.] The political situation here is somewhat com-plicated by the publication of Senator Hampton's letter announcing his adherence to the Tillman ticket, and the speech made by Till-man in Spartanburg county.

man in Spartanburg county.

Tillman in his speech was very bitter against the bolters or Haskeilites, and against everybody who opposed him. He accused Haskell of having at his back the holders of the $6,000,000 of state bonds repudiated by the legislature in 1877. Haskell, he said, while he was on the supreme court bench, tried to so fix millions of the green fraudulent bonds on state, against the decision of the other judges and the bond commission. Chamberlain wa now in the state and had presented these same coupons in payment of taxes. Who knows what understanding may exist now to manipulate these bonds, so as to fix them on the state, and possibly to secure a corruption fund to buy negro leaders and carry th

WHAT CHAMBERLAIN HAS DONE The Chamberlain referred to is ex-Governor D. H. Chamberlain, who was defeated by Hampton for governor of this state in 1876 and who is now receiver of the South Carolina railway. Chamberlain has tendered the coupons of the repudiated bonds in payment of the taxes due by the road to the state. Tillman also charges that Haske'l went from the supreme court into the employment of the railroad monopoly, and "because I have alto his record, and because I have downed him when he attacked and insulted me in Columbia, he now hates me so that he wants to scuttle and sink the ship and ruin us all, rather than I should be governor, although an overwhelming majority of democrats have nominated me. The devil has taken him up on a moun tain and shown him his large negro vote, and told him that if he could get that, he could control South Carolina, and be backed, i necessary, by the United States troops. Other things are actuating Haskell. He is president of a bank, and it is said that the banks, the railroads, the monopolies, the money powers are opposed to Tillman.

ATTACKING GOVERNOR RICHARDSON. Tillman also charges the present governor. Richardson, with being in a conspiracy to give the election machinery freely over into the hands of the Haskellites. As to the threatened troubles at the polls, he said:

"I made no threats. I only expressed an opinion that there would be bloodshed should the independents attempt to lead ne grees to the polls, or should the managers try to count us out. There is no opposition to the negro voting for whom he pleases, but I know the temper of our people too well not to fear bloodshed when five white men out of a husdred attempt to rule the other ninety-five means of negro votes. We want a free vote and a clear count, but we are not going to submit to negro domination.

TILLMAN'S SUPPORTERS WORRIED. The supporters of Tillman are very much worried about his speech, and the Haskellites are rather jubilant. They both agree that it will intensify the bitterness between the two factions. The calls for mass meetings issued by the regular democratic executive commit-tee soon after the coming out of the Haskell ticket have been revoked. The Republicans Support Haskell. COLUMBIA, S. C., October 26.-[Special.]-The republican state executive committee has issued an address to the republicans of South Carolina, declaring their belief that, as to the two democratic state tickets now in the field, the "regular ticket" headed by B. R. Tillman. and the independent ticket, headed by A. C. Haskell, the best interests of all classes would be better subserved by the success of the Haskell ticket. The address continues: "Certainly no republican who has heard or read Tillman's utterances during the campaign, could conscientlously vote the Tillman ticket. The success of this ticket, without a vigorous protest at the polls, will, in the indoment of your committee, result in the enactment of class legislation, and the passage of laws to discriminate against and oppress the republicans of the state. The man faction stand pledged to calling of a constitutional convention, evident purpose of which is to restrict the suf-frage so as to forever deprive a large number of republicans of the right to vote. The Haskell faction declare in favor of a free ballot and a fair count, and promise, if elected, to give the people of the state a government that will protect and maintain the rights of all its citizens. With these facts before us, your committee have concluded that, in the presented with the state of the s ent crisis, you could consistently vote the Haskell ticket without violating your alle-giance to the republican party, and while not urging this course as a party measure, we commend the ticket to your favorable con

A Big Railroad Change in Texas SAN ANTONIO, Tex., October 26 .- [Special. It was learned here today on good authority that some very important changes are soon to be made in regard to the future careers of the International and Great Northern and Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroads. It is stated that the latter will go out of the hand of the receivers within a very short time, and of the receivers within a very short time, and that the former will have its debt reorganized preparatory to going out also, when it will be reincorporated with the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Gould system, with Colonel Eddy, at present receiver, as general manager in place of S. H. H. Clark, relieved on account of failing health, and the promotion of Colonel J. N. Orr, at present general agent in this city, to a high position in the freight department. Colonel Eddy is in St. Louis now, attending to the business, and Gould, who is now in Kansas looking over the Missouri, Kansas and Texas, will visit Texas to conferwith his officials.

Secretary Hester's Figures.

New Obleans, October 26.—The statement of Secretary Hester, of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, issued today, shows that the unprecedented amount of 405,957 bales of cotton were brought into sight during the past week, carrying the total market for the season past the 2,000,000 mark. This compares with 392,313 for the corresponding seven days of last year. These figures bring up the excess in the October movement to 48,088 more than for the same twenty-four days of October last season, and an increase in the total in sight to date to 23,724. The amount of the crop brought into sight from October 1st to the 24th, inclusive, is 1,279,363, against 1,231,275, the same time last year, making the total for the season to date 2,130,367, against 1,900,263 last year. The Reservoir Breaks Loose, and the Water Carry Everything in the Way-The People Stand Aghast.

TRMPLE, Tex., October 26.—Two hundred and eighty thousand gallons of water-confin in the steel stand pipe, broke loose from the confines about 3 o'clock Friday morning, and flooded the town. Immense sheets of boiler steel, hundreds of pieces of scaffolding, houses, barns, fences, and all the debris in the surrounding neighborhood went floating crashing in all directions. The people of the town awakened, and stood in frightened groups about the town, watching the destruc-non of their homes and property. The house of O. T. Rigdon was crushed as an egg shell, and afterwards took fire. Rigdon was seriously burned. His reecovery is doubtful. The accident is unaccountable. No flaws are apparent in any of the broken pieces of pipe, and the workmanship shows it to be first-class. The foundation is still there, solid and unharmed, except in one place, where a gash two feet long cut through the bottom and a couple of rocks are washed

THE TENTS FROM NEW JERSEY Will Secure for the Jerseymen a Hearty

Charleston, S. C., October 26.—[Special.]— The eradle of secassion will open its gates to New Jersey on the 22d of February next. when the fourth brigade, South Carolina militia will join with the Veteran Zonaves of New Jersey, to celebrate Washington's birthday.

The reunion came about this way: It was learned that the Jerseymen proposed to make a trip southward in February. The Fusiliers, the oldest military company in the south, heard of it, and invited them to stop at their armory. Then the brigade officials heard of it, and today General Huguenin sent a letter in which was the following letter:

to General Drake, commanding the Zouaves, in which was the following letter:

Brevet Brigadier General J. Madison Drake, Commandant Elizabeth Veterans' Zouaves—General: Your letters to Captain Harry Schacht, commanding the German fusiliers, a company of this brigade, informing him of your anticipated visit to Charleston, has been handed to me. I assure you that your coming will be most heartily welcomed, and that we will do all in our power to make your stay pleasant and one to be remembered. The people of Charleston, I am sure, can never forget the fact that immediately after the earthquake, when our people, without shelter and tents, were required to protect our wives and children, and other status books to lend us tents, the noble governor of New Jersey sent his tents with the remark: "That when the laws were framed for New Jersey earthquakes were not anticipated." Such graceful assistance will ever be remembered, and we are only too glad to have the opportunity to show our appreciation by extending our hospitality to the people of New Jersey, as represented by your gallant and honorable commander; and wishing to you a pleasant trip through its entire length, I beg to subscribe myself, very respectfully, your obednent servant, T. THE BALL CAME OUT.

Which Had Been Imbedded in His Flesh for

SPARTA, Ga., October 26.-[Special.]-A. H. Jernigan, of Hancock, is an old veteran and draws his pension as a wounded soldier. At the battle of the Wilderness, while fighting with the old Eighth Georgia, he was oadly shot, the ball entering near his shoulder, ranging downward and located itself in the fleshy portion of his thigh. For more than twenty-five years he has at times endured agony in the region of this ball.

A BROTHER VETERAN SENT FOR Last Thursday he had a paroxysm which was so painful that he found it unendurable. Being remote from town and doctors, he sent for his neighbor and friend, Jim Brantleyhimself an old "vet"-who fought with the Fifteenth regiment. Now Jim is no surgeon, has never read surgery nor practiced surgery but from '61 to '65 had seen a good deal o surgery going on. Jim only knew that his friend was suffering and needed relief. Jernigan told him to "ent in and get that hall "

THE BALL COMES OUT. Jim said he had nothing but his pocket knife, but the old fighth Georgia veteran per sisted, and made him whack away. Jim made the incision about a quarter of an inch in the fleshy part of the thigh with a dull pocke the trouble. The result was in a short while a large rough and jagged minie ball was extracted from its old hiding place of more than a quarter of a century, and the old veteran is now at peace.

STAMPEDED FROM CHURCH.

The Baptist Congregation of Jonesbor

Scattered.

Jonesboro, Ga., October 26.—[Special.]-This mornig about 12 o'clock a severe wind storm struck Jonesboro from the northwest stirring things up generally. No particular damage was done, except to the Baptist church. Services were going on at the time, and when the church began to crack the congregation almost stampeded. People rushed pell-mell in every direction to escape, and in the rush Mr. N. R. Hamrick fell to the floor. the rush Mr. N. K. Hamrick fell to the floor, bruising himself up. It was a miracle that he escaped serious injury, as the crowd went wild for a few minutes. The church is so badly damaged that it will not be safe to use any more until it is repaird. It will be torn down and rebuilt from the ground, with all the latest improvements. No other damage has been reported.

The Hancock-Burnett Case.

KNOXVILLE, Ga., October 26.—[Special.]
Both sides have closed in the Hancock-Burnett murder case, and all the speeches have been made. It is generally conced that there will be an acquittal. The grand jury says there is more criminal business in this court than has ever before been known in the county, and they think that fiquoris the cause. They have found several true bills against nearly every seller in the county and Judge Miller is laying on the fines heavy.

Fire in Forsyth.

Forsyth, Ga., October 26.—[Special.]—
About 7 o'clock yesterday morning a fire was discovered in the mill of the Southern Cotton Oil Company. It was promptly extinguished. The fire is supposed to have originated by a match being drawn up in the elevator and ignited by the friction. The loss was two bales of cotton, and one of the brushes in the gin was also destroyed. It seems wonderful that the whole building was not consumed.

Macon, Ga., October 26.—[Special.]—Today Officer Palethorpe arrested three negroes, Zada Jackson, Jesse Jackson and Will Calhoun, charged with robbing freight cars of the East Tennesse road. They were put in the Constantinople, October 26.—Trouble has arisen between Mr. Hirsch, the American minister, and the porte over the arrest of an American subject on suspicion of being implicated in the Armenian revolutionary plots. The accused is a graduate of Bowdoin college. He came to Turkey during the administration of President Hayes to found an American college, but the project fell through and he has since remained here. The arrest was effected in the night time at

The arrest was effected in the night time at the accused's residence, and in spite of his protest that he was an American and his production of his passports, he was hurtied to the Seraskierat prison, without being allowed to dress. In the morning he was allowed to communicate with the American consul and was soon released on condition that he should appear and stand trial.

Minister Hirschi sent an energetic protest to the foreign minister against the violation of the right of domicile of American citizens, and demanded satisfaction and punishment of the official who ordered the arrest. He further declared that he would refuse to produce the accused unless satisfaction was forther declared that he would refuse to produce the accused unless satisfaction was granted, and until informed of the nature of the charge against him.

The statement was then sent of Mr. Hirsch that the accused had engraved a seal for a secret Armenian committee. Proof was produced that the man had no knowledge of the plot, and that he had recently been acting as agent for an American firm engaged in the manufacture of photographs. The government then expressed its fregrets. Mr. Hirsch, however, still maintains his demand for satisfaction.

THE PROPOSED ZOLLVEREIN. It Meets With Some Opposition from

Paris, October 26.-M. DeLoncle, member of the budget committee and editor of The Siecle, in an interview on the report that Germany, Austria and Italy are forming a zollverein against America, said: France could on'y join such a zollverein in the event of Great Britain joining it. As this is highly improbable the school will be further without of Great Britain joining it. As this is highly improbable, the scheme will be futile without England's assent. Any zoliverein against America, according to the expression of Prince Bismarck when sounded a year ago on such eventuality, must necessarily become a continental blockade. Even if Spain joins the zollverein, France must act in accord with England. The scheme in France receives the report of only a few nitra partectionists, while the expention of France and England from the continent will gratify the French free-trade party.

The Dead Body Found.

London, October 25.—The dead body of Mrs. Hobb's child was found today in a clump Mrs. Hobb's child was found today in a clump of furze bushes in a field adjacent to the road in the neighborhood of Southhampstead. It was discovered about a mile distant from the place where its mother's body was found Friday night. There were no external marks of violence on the body, and it is believed the child met death by smothering. When found the infant's clothing was saturated with rain.

The Swiss Elections.

BERNE, October 26 .- The elections today have not changed the party strength in the national council. The national plebiscite shows a large majority in favor of the state in-surance against accident and illness.

A Bloody Tragedy at a Negro Church

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., October 26. - [Special. Your Milledgeville correspondent learned this morning of another negro fight in Baldwin county, in which Willis Reaves was clubbe to death, by some party whose name has not yet been given out. The readers of THE CON-STITUTION are familiar with a number of tragedies that have recently been enacted among the negroes of that county, and that of last night bears close semblance in detail to some published heretofore. The facts, asignthered, are to the effect, that a fair was given by one of the negro churches on Mr. J. T. Miller's place, and quite a crowd had gathered to buy and sell for the a crown had gathered to day and set for the holy cause. A misunderstanding occurred, and a general fight ensued, in which Reaves was clubbed to death. It is understood that a woman's name was the cause of the fight, and it was probably inspired by jealousy. There seems to be a desire to conceal the name of the one who struck the deadly blow, as that could not be learned.

DEAD ON THE ROAD

Another Mysterious Murder Committed Near Rome.

Rome, Ga., October 25.—[Special.]—A mysterious death has occurred in Rome. Nathan Brown, colored, was found dead on the roadside. His head and face were bruised to a horrifying extent.

Brown recently came to Rome, bringing with him his wife. He obtained employment in the plastering business, and was on his way to his work. It is reported that he was found by his fellow-workmen lying on his face, with blood oozing out of his mouth, eyes an nostrils. There is no clue or hypothesis yet he was. But the bruises evidently discloses violence. The deceased was about thirty years old and a strong man. The inquest of the coroner's jury may throw some light on the matter.

DEAD IN THE WOODS. An Old Woman Wanders Off to Die Alone.

Rome, Ga., October 26.—[Special.]—An old negro woman was found dead in the woods yesterday. A party of huntsmen from Rome found Sealy Travis in a thick-wooded place stone dead. The old woman was per-haps eighty years old, and was very feeble. It is thought her death was natural, and that she wandered away and did not have strength to go back to her home.

The Highest Tide in Forty Years.

RONDOUT, N. Y., October 26.—The Hudson today showed the highest tide in forty years. The brickyards suffered enormously. Millions of brick were lost. The yards between Roseton and Albany are submerged, and the green brick awaiting burning were thrown down by the flood. It is estimated that 4,000,000 brick have been lost in

BUILDINGS AND Sh. IPPING IN THE

AN IMMENSE QUANTITY OF COTTON.

The Whole River Front and All the Cotton Warehouses Burned-Over 5,000 Bales of Cotton Destroyed.

MOBILE, Ala., October 26.—The fire that began near the river front at the northeast end of the city spread rapidly to the cotton ware-houses and presses, and getting entirely be-yond control of the fire department, has, at this writing, in its grasp all cotton warehouses and presses on the river front and back to street from Beauregard to St. Louis

A stiff northeast wind prevails, and the fire threatens the entire bus-iness portion of the city. Four or five river steamers, the steamship Caston, the Mo-bile and Ohio railroad wharf, the oil mills and the following warehouses and presses have been burned: L. C. Fry's, Brown's, Goodman's, Fitzpatrick's and Cooley's, and the Gage & Lyons ice factory. In fact, the blocks of buildings bounded by the river from Knox street, the northern boundary of the city, to St. Louis s treet, on the sou seven streets, and from the river front to Royal street, west, are hopelessly lost.

The fire is moving rapidly southward, and since this dispatch was begun, has crossed St. Louis street, on the water front, and infringes on the wholsale business part of the city. The Buildings consumed so far are the Spingle mill, three cotton compresses, five cotton warehouses, with 5,630 bales of cotton. the Gulf City oil mill, the Mobile ice factory three steamboats, eleven loaded and five empty freight cars, two coal and wood yards, a freight depot, with a small amount of freight and six wharves. The fire was aided by the strong northwest wind, but had it been a point or two nearer the north, pretty much all of the town would have gone. The loss is $545,000, with about $325,000 insurance.

THE START OF THE FIRE. The fire started in the Stewart & Butt shingle mill, just beyond the city limits on the The sparks fell in many warehouses within a radius of half a mile to the south. Many fires ing among the cotton on the Mobile and Bir-mingham railroad wharf. This was at once tumbled off in the slip, and though searched, Almost at the same time Goodman & Planters's warehouses were on fire. All this northern part of town was taken up with property for the handling and storing of cotton. whole blocks being occupied by warehouses, one-story brick buildings with dead walls on all sides except two, which are pierced with a single gate. All are covered with slate, but have courtyards in the centre, the sheds being open to the court. The fire once introduced spread with marvelous rapidity from bale to bale.

There was a rain of sparks from the sh mill fire, and this accounts for the breaking out of the fire in the several warehouses at once. Dense smoke was blown steadily down who tried to fight the fire in front. Very little could be done, therefore, to stop the progress of the flames, and it was not until the open space of a quarter block was met at the foot of St. Anthony street that any success was met with. Ther progress stopped.

There the southward progress of the fire was stopped after sweeping away five blocks along the river front, except one building. The Mobile and Birmingham passenger depot and the warehouses on the west side of Commerce street were burned from Beauregard to State street, four blocks, except the Okolona warehouse. The warehouses on Water street, both sides, between Lipscomb and Adams, and partly on both sides between Adams and Congress, were burned; also the warehouses on the northeast corner of Magnolia and Congress. All the wharf property, which is owned by private parties, along the river front from Lipscomb to State street, was burned, and a small portion of one of the wharves belonging to the city, at the foot of St. Louis street. THE PROGRESS STOPPED longing to the city, at the foot of St. Lonis street.

Lying in the slips were four steamboats. Three of these, the Ruth, the Mary Elizabeth and the Jewel were burned. Two were out of commission and of little value. The Ruth was worth $6,000. Several coal and wood yards on the wharves were destroyed, and sundry freight. There was a passenger train in Commerce street when the fire broke out, and the train freight, all belonging to the Mobile and Birmingham railway company. All was saved except five empty freight cars. Eleven cars of corn, belonging to the Mobile and Ohio on the adjacent track, were burned.

THE LOSSES FOOTED UP.

of corn, belonging to the Mobile and Ohio or the adjacent track, were burned.

THE LOSSES FOOTED UP.

The losses foot up larger than first reported, amounting to $650,000. The principal losser are distributed as follows: Stewart & Butts, shingle mill, $17,000; dry kiln saved. Cooley's compress and warehouses, owned by G. M. Townsend, New York, $70,000. Taylor's compress and warehouse, owned by John T. Taylor's Co., New York, $25,000. Merchants' press and warehouse, G. B. Thames and others, $30,000. Brown's warehouses, owned by M. E. Townsend, New York; Toodman's, owned by M. E. Townsend, New York; Truitt Warehouse, owned by John T. Taylor; Emanual warehouse, owned by the Emanuel estate—all cost about $50,000. These warehouses contained altogether 5,630 bales of cotton, all destroyed, valued at $281,500, fully insured.

The Mobile and Birmingham temporary depot was burned, entailing a loss of about $4,000 in tained altogether 5,630 bales of cotton, all destroyed, valued at $281,500, fully insured.

§ The Mobile and Birmingham temporary depot was burned, entailing a loss of about $4,000 in freight.

Next on Commerce street was the Onlf City oil mills, which was destroyed. The value of the building and machinery is $7,000, stock of seed in the shed $10,000. Then came the Mobile Phosphate and Chemical Manufacturing Company's factory, corner St. Anthony and Commerce streets, the last to burn, value $40,000. The Yellow Pins Lumber Company's loss was $2,000 in lumber, John O Donnell's loss $8,000 in coal and wood; John Gaillards $2,000 in the same. The loss by the Mobile and Birmingham railroad on freight cars in $2,500; the loss in the Mobile and Ohio freight cars and contents is $8,000. Outside the cotton insurance, there is almost $150,000 on the other property. The firs broke out at half past 12 o clock.

DUEL TO THE DEATH.

A Bloody Encounter Between Two Madison County Farmers.

DANIELSVILLE, Ga., October 26.-[Special.] Yesterday afternoon, in this county, William Martin emptied his double-barrel gun and five-shooter pistol at and into William Sanders, killing him on the spot.

William Sanders emptied his double-barrel gun and three chambers of his pistol at ed into William Martin, and he is now in a dying condition.

There was bad blood between them. Martin was a witness against Sanders before the grand jury last court. Sanders was witness against Martin yesterday on the charge of malicious mischief for shooting a w, but did not testify, Martin waving triat and giving bond, Sanders's son going on his bond. They live on the same plantation, not more than a quarter of a mile apart, Martin being an employe of Sanders's son. Sanders heard the shooting towards Martin's and saw his hogs running home, and taking his gun went up to Martin's and asked him what was shooting his hogs for. Martin replied that he would shoot him too, if he bothered him.

The shooting then began.

THE SHOOTING BEGINS, tin firing seven times, four of which pistol ts took effect, any one of the three being fatal. One was in the hip, one in the side, one in the small of the back, and one down by the side of the neck, supposed to have entered as Sanders fell.

Sanders's son ran up before the end shouting: "Stop that shooting," and Sanders did stop, but Martin kept advancing and firing until he emptied his weapons. Sanders fell dead when his son had reached within fifteen feet of him. The gun shots spatted Martin's face, brow and ear, but the fatal shot was from the and took effect in Martin's front, cut ting the end of a rib and passing round.

MARTIN WILL DIE. W. D. Carter, of Winterville, is attending the wounded man, and says he can't live. Banders never spoke after the shooting, and from his many wounds never bled a drop. Martin talks freely about the killing and says he did it to save his own ilfe. Martin has a wife and children. Sanders's wife is dead and his children grown.

FOUR RUNAWAYS.

Miss Callaway Thrown From a Buggy and Her Ankle Sprained.

Ga., October 26.-[Special.]ere were four runaways in Macon today, I in every instance the vehicles were broken and other casualties ensued.

The most exciting of the runaways was the one in which Miss Callaway, the sixteen-year-old daughter of the superintendent of Robert Home, participated. She was sitting in a buggy out of which her father had just gotten, Home, participated. She was sitting in a buggy out of which her father had just gotten, when the horse suddenly took fright and commenced to run. He started at the Vineville branch on the Forsyth road. The horse had no bits in his mouth, so Miss Callaway had no way of stopping the horse. The horse ran down Cotton avenue, and then ran into Plum street. When between First and Second streets the horse tried to run into an alley, and dashed the buggy to pieces against a fence. Miss Callaway was thrown out and her ankle was sprained and face hurt. She also sustained some bodily bruises. Her escape from death was narrow.

when Miss Callaway's horse started to When Miss Callaway's horse started to run, another horse attached to a buggy became frightened and ran straight ahead of Miss Callaway's team. Mr. Jim Hicks, who was in his buggy, joined in the chase, hoping to be of some assistance in resoung Miss Callaway. The three buggies rushing down the street created considerable excitement. Mr. Hicks was the first to reach Miss Callaway after she was thrown out of her buggy, and he carried her home in his buggy.

reach Miss Callaway after she was thrown out of her buggy, and he carried her home in his buggy.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY.

Messra. W. J. Ross and Will Perry went buggy, driving today. The horse ran away and badly broke the buggy, and the animal was severely cut in several places.

There were also two other runaways, but at this writing it has not been learned if any errous damage was done.

VARN'S STATEMENT

ABOUT THE ORIGIN OF THE COFFEE

He Was Willing at All Times to Submit to Legal Process, and Was Finally At-tacked by His Enemies.

WAYCROSS, Ga., October 26 .- [Special.]-L. B. Varn, charged with instigating and leading the riot at Stokes's still, has published and is distributing to the public in Ware and Coffee counties a sworn statement, which furnishes further information of the cause of the riot, which may be of interest to the general public. The card reads:

"I leased lot of land No. 2 in the sixth district of Coffee county, from the Waycross Lumber Company, in good faith, and com-menced this fall to make preparations to work it for turpentine purposes, when Tom Sears, who claimed it, as reported under one of Hitt's titles, went to my hands, with his gun, and ordered them off the lot. LEGAL ADVICE SOUGHT.

"I then went to see Captain L. Johnson, general manager, and Colonel J. L. Sweat, attorney for the Waycross Lumber Company, who told we that I had the right, under my lease, to work the lot, and all they could do would be to defend any suit brought against me, and sustain the title of the Waycross Lumber Company to the lot which they held from Colonel William A. McDonald as executor of the Hargrove estate, and advise me to act strictly on the defensive, avoiding trouble, and let the question of title be settled peaceably by injunction, which they supposed either Sears or F. M. Stokes, who wanted to work the lot of turpentine under the Hitt title, would have served as soon as I proceeded with the work,

"I returned and acted under this advice, and can prove by a score of men that I instructed my hands to submit at once to any legal process served upon them to stop them from working on the lot; to avoid difficulty or trouble of any kind with anyone, acting strictly on the defensive, and not to kill any one or be killed.

THE FIGHT BEGINS.
"On Tuesday Campbell Baker, one of my teamsters, was shot and mortally wounded, and in his sworn statement, made before Justice Tyer, he says he was going peaceably along the road, and was wavlaid and shot by Tom Sears. Wednesday afternoon, while I was six miles away at my still, with Dr. Spence and Justice Tyer, taking the statement of Campbell Baker, a party of armed men went down into Ware, where Rob Knight lived, a mile and a half from the lot in dispute, and from the statements of those who have seen it, riddled Knight's house with bullets. He, Golden and others of my employes being in the house, having stopped work on account of the rain, and in the firing which ensued, McKendon and Hendricks, woodmen of Stokes's, were unfortunately

PROTECTION SOUGHT. "Hearing of the excitement which prevailed, and the threats made against me and my hands, I came to Waycross that night to appeal to the civil authorities for protection. shall continue my business, neither molest persons from molesting or interfering with any one, and warn all persons from molesting or interfering with me, and am willing for the courts of the country to settle all matters according to law, right and justice, as others should be."

THE TROUBLE RENEWED.

One Hundred and Fifty Men Destroy Mr Varn's Property.

WAYCROSS, Ga., October 26.-[Special.]-Last night, 150 men armed with Winchester rifles are said to have gone to Varn, Ga., and fired the turpentine still of L. B. Varn, destroying about $1,000 in property. They also riddled his commissary store with bul-lets. Inside of the commissary store the clerk was sleeping who says that the balls came near to his body as he lay upon the bed in an ague of fright. The house of Bob Knight, some distance in the woods, is also said to have been burned. The report reaches here that the party they intended to return and finish their work of destruction. Varn has about $4,000 or $5,000 worth of property in and near Varn, Ga. He says his life has been threatened, and he was forced to abandon his who were disposed to destroy it.

GOVERNOR GORDON CALLED UPON. Upon the information reaching here of his loss and the threats against his life, he wired Governor Gordon for protection to his property, and has wired Postmaster General Wannamaker that he has to abandon the postoffice at Varn, Ga., in consequence of lawless acts and violent threats against his life. Governor Gordon has wired Sheriff Henderson, of Ware county, to hold the militia in readiness to proceed to Varn, Ga., if the city cannot preserve order and protect life and property. one could furnish any names, but it is conceded that the party who depredated last night num-bered 150 at least. It is not known whence the party came or to where they dispersed. Sheriff Henderson will go to the scene of the trouble with a posse of citizens to investigate last night's trouble.

The Floyd Rifles. Macon, Ga., October 26.—[Special.]—The Floyd Rifles have returned from the Piedmont exposition drill. They were highly delighted with their courteous treatment while in At-lanta. They say that though they only won the third prize they are not at all disheartened, and are ready to enter another champion drill.

An Early Morning Meeting Between the Desperado and a Policeman Results Fatally for the Former.

OPELIKA, Ala., October 26 .- [Special.]-This morning, at 3:30 o'clock, Bob Redding, the notorious negro burglar and desperado, was shot in this city, and instantly killed, by Policeman E. T. Gibson.

Chief of Police Yarbrough saw the wife of this colored Rube Burrows in the city yesterday, and last night saw Bob. ON THE LOOKOUT.

The police had been hunting for him all night, and this morning, at the hour mentioned, Gibson and R. H. Love started down Jefferson street to look for him, expecting he would leave on the Columbus train.

Just as they passed Bertrand Zachery's place they met him. Redding stopped and asked Gibson the time. Gibson asked him where he lived. He replied, "In Opelika." He then asked him his name. He said, "Williams."

THE PISTOL DRAWN. Gibson told him he would have to go to the depot to be identified.

Quick as lightning Redding jerked out a large pistol and fired at Gibson-Love knocked his arm up with a club, or he would have shot Gibson through the

FILLED WITH SHOT.

Gibson immediately returned the fire with a double-barreled shotgun, and put fifty buckshot in Redding's right side. Redding ran about forty feet and fell dead. A coroner's jury was summoned before Justice J. F. Gorman, who rendered a verdict that Redding came to his death from a gunshot wound at the hands of E. T. Gibson, and that it was a justifiable homicide, and completely exonerates Gibson.

Friday night last after the show concluded its performance the bailiff took charge, on an attachment issued out by several people connected with the combination.

Since that time the concern has been tied up on a sidetrack opposite the Fulton county spinning mills.

Pecan Culture,

In looking around at the exposition for notes for "Woman's Kingdom," on woman's work, my attention was drawn to one of the most interesting exhibits in the agricultural building—the exhibit of fine pecans of W. R. Stuart, Ocean Springs, Miss. They are the largest and finest ever see in this part of the country. Mr. Stuart owns the Gulf Coast pecan grove and nursery at Ocean Springs. He sends these magnificent pecans all over the United States and has orders from France, Australia and the West Indies. These nuts rance, Australia and the west indies. These nuts must be seen to be appreciated. There are several varieties; a very large net with a thin shell filled with delightful meat, and each variety rich and fine in flavor. The division of pomology in the U.S. department of agriculture writes him the most complimentary letters in regard to the specimens sent on for them to see. The pecan culture opens up a new industry for the south, and one in which women, as well as men, can make money. The pecan is a handsome shade tree, growing a fine, symmetrical top, with dark, richigreen foliage; it begin to bear from six to seven years from planting. Trees twelve years old bear as much as one barrel of nuts. These fine nuts sell readily at $100 a barrel, so one can see a pecan grove is a good and safe investment. Thereis a large crowd aroundly. Stuart's exhibit all the time and many of our Atlanta people have given orders for young trees. It would interest anyone to see this beautiful exhibit, the first of the kind ever made at the Piedmont exposition, and the only one in the building.

MRS. WILLIAM KINGmust be seen to be appreciated. There are several

Who Bertha M. Clay Is.

From The Epoch.

"Bertha M. Clay" is not a name, but a trade mark, with rather a curious origin. Mrs. Braeme was English, and her books first came over as advance sheets from Conway, her London publisher. They were signed "B. M. C.," the author's initials written backwards. Who B. M. C. was was one of those things no fellow on this side could find out. Mr. Street knew that his readers did not like mere letters. They wanted names—the more high flown, the better. He wrote B. M. C. Bertha M. Clay, and sent a man to England to find out all about her. By much diplomacy he at last got in communication with her and paid liberally for work to which under our laws he had only a courtesy title. Though her books were instant and startling successes, the lack of copyright made it impossible for her to get such prices as Mrs. Fleming received. Mrs. Braeme's books number largely over 100—and something like 12,00,000 copies have been sold since The Seaside era began, which is more than marvelous when you consider that they have next to no plot and but very little action; that they are for the most part made up of sweetness and light, beaten out very thin. Who Bertha M. Clay Is. ANNOUNCEMENTS.

To the Public. I respectfully announce myself as a candidate for mayor of Atlanta, subject to the nomination of the citizens' meeting.

If I am elected, I will do my best to make a good mayor.

If another is nominated, I will support the nominee with pleasure.
W. A. HEMPHILL. For Mayor of Atlanta. For Mayor of Atlanta.

The friends of Hon. Anton Kontz announce him as a candidate for the mayoralty of Atlanta. They point with pride to his record as a citizen, as a business man, as an officer, as a public servant and as a friend. Atlanta needs a man of nerve, of probity, of high personal character, who relies upon his own judgment, and who cannot be swerved for mayor. Such a man is Anton Kontz, and as such the suffrages of the people are asked for him.

ON HIS TRIP THROUGH THE HOLY

"He Toucheth the Hills and They Smoke" the Text Upon Which the Congregation Was Addressed.

BROOKLYN, October 26.—]Special.]—Dr. Talmage preached the fifth sermon of the series on his tour in the Holy Land, in the Academy of Music in this city this morning. Dr. Talmage announced as his text, Psalm 104:32: "He toucheth the hills and they smoke." He said:

David, the poet, here pictures a volcano and what Churche's Cotopaxi does on painter's canvas, this author does in words. You see a hill, calm and still, and for ages immovable but the Lord out of the heavens puts his finger on the top of it and from it rise thick vapors, intershot with fire. "He toucheth the hills and they smoke." God is the only being who can manage a volcano and again and again has he employed volcanic action. The pictures on the walls of Pompeii, the exhumed Italian city, as we saw them last November, demonstrate that the city was not fit to live. In the first century, that city, engirdled with palaces, emparadised with gardens, pillared into architectural exness, was at the foot of a mountain, up the sides of which it ran with vineyards and villas of merchant princes, and all that marble, and bronze, and imperial baths, and arbori-culture, and rainbowed fountains, and a colisoum at the dedication of which 9,000 beasts had been slain, and a supernal landscape, in which the shore gave roses to the sea and the sea gave crystals to the shore; yea, all that beauty, and pomp, and wealth could give was there to be seen or heard. But the bad morals of the city had shocked the world. In the year 79, on the 4th of August, a black column rose above the adjoining mountain and spread out, Pling says, as he saw it, like a great pine tree, wider and wider, until it began to rain upon the city, first thin ashes and then pumice stone, and sulphurous fumes scooped and streams of mud poured through the streets till few people escaped and the city was buried, and some of the inhabitants 1,800 years after were found embalmed in the scorize of that awful doom. The Lord called upon volcame forces to obliterate that profligate city. He touched the hills and they smoked.

He touched the hills and they smoked.

Nothing but volcanic action could explain what I shall show you at the Dead Sea upon which I looked last December, and of whose waters I took a bitter and stinging taste. Concerning all that region there has been a controversy enough to fill libraries, science saying one thing, revelation saying another thing. But admit volcanic action divinely employed and both testimonies are one and the same. Geology, chemistry, geography, astronomy, ichthyology, ornithology and zoology are coming one by one to confirm the scriptures. Two leaves of one book are revelation and creation, and the penmanship scriptures. Two leaves of one book are revelation and creation, and the penmanship is by the some divine hand. Our horseback ride will not be so steep today, and you can stay on without clinging to the pommel of the saddle, but the scenes amid which we ride shall, if possible, be more thrilling, and by the time the horses snuff the sulphurous atmosphere of Lake Asphaltites, or the Dead Sea, we will be ready to dismount and read from our Bibles about what was done that day by the Lord when He touched the hills and they

Take a detour and pass along by the rocky Take a detour and pass along by the rocky fortress of Masada, where occurred something more wonderful in the way of desperation than you have ever heard of, unless you have heard of that. Herod built a palace amid these heaps of black and awful rocks, which look like a tumbled midnight. A great band of robbers—about 1,000, including their families—afterward held the fortress. When the Roman army stormed that steep, and the bandits could no longer hold the place, their chieftain. Eleazar, made a powerful speech. chieftain, Eleazar, made a powerful speech, which persuaded them to die before they were captured. First, the men kissed their families captured. First, the men kissed their families a loving and tearful good-bye and then put a dagger into their hearts, and the women and dagger into their hearts, and the women and the children were slain. Then ten men were chosen by lot to slay all the other men, and each man lay down by the dead wife and children and waited for these executioners to do their work. This done, one man of the ten killed the other nine. Then the survivor committed suicide. Two women and five children had hid themselves, and after all was over come forth to tell of the was over came forth to tell of the slaughtered. Great and rugged natural nery makes the most tremendous natures for good or evil. Great statesmen and great robbers, great orators and great butchers, were precipices. Strong natures are hardly ever born upon the plain. When men have any-thing greatly good or greatly evil to do, they come down off the rocks.

Pass on from under the shadow of Masada, the scene of concentrated diabolism, and come along where the salt crystals crackle under the horses' hoofs. You are near the most God-forsaken region of all the earth. You to whom the word lake has heretofore suggested those bewitchments of beauty, Luzerne or Cayuga some great pearl set by a loving God in the bosom of the luxuriant valley, change all your ideas about a lake, and see this sheet of water which the Bible calls the Salt Sea, or Sea of the Plain, and Josephus calls Lake Asphaltites. The muleteers will take care of the horses while we get down to the brink and dip up the liquid mix-ture in the paim of the hand. The waters are a commingling of brimstone and pitch, and have six times larger percentage of salt than those of the Atlantic ocean, the ocean having 4 per cent of salt, and this lake 26½ per cent. Lake Sir-i-Kol of India is the highest lake in Lake Sir-i-Kol of India is the highest lake in the world. This lake, on the banks of which we kneel is the lowest lake. It empties into no sea, among other things, for the simple reason that water cannot run up hill. It swallows up the river Jordan, and makes no rosponse of thanks, and never reports what it does with the 20,000,000 cubic feet of water annually received from the sacred river. It takes the tree branches and logs floated into it by the Jordan and pitches them on the banks of bitumen to decay there.

The hot springs near its banks by the name of Callirhoe, where King Herod came to bathe off his illness, no sooner pour into this sea than they are poisoned. Not a fishscale swims it. Not an insect walks it. It hates life, and if you attempt to swim there it lifts swims it. Not an insect walks it. It hates life, and if you attempt to swim there it lifts you by an unnatural buoyancy to the surface, as much as to say, "We want no life here, but death is our preference, death." Those who attempt to wade into this lake, and submerge themselves, come out almost maddened, as attempt to wade into this lake, and submerge themselves, come out almost maddened, as with the sting of a hundred wasps and hornets, and with lips and eyelids swollen with the strange ablution. The sparkle of its waters is not the sparkle of beauty on other lakes, but a metallic luster like unto the flash of a sword that would thrust you. The gazelles and the thexes that live on the hills beside it, and the cranes and wild ducks that flyacross—for, contrary to the old belief, birds do safely wing their way over it—and the Arab horses you have been riding, though thirsty enough, will not drink out of this dreadful mixture. A mist hovers over parts of it almost continually, not drink out of this creadful mixture. A mist hovers over parts of it almost continually, which, though natural evaporation, seems like a wing of doom spread over liquid desolation. It is the rinsings of abomination. It is an aqueous monster coiled among the hills, or creeping with ripples, and stenchful with nausacting malodors.

creeping with ripples, and stenchful with nauseating malodors.

In these regions once stood four great cities of Assyria: Sodom, Gemorrab, Adama and Zeboim. The Dible says they were destroyed by a tempest of fire and brimstone after these cities had filled up of wickedness. "No, that is absurd," cries some one: "It is evident that this was a region of salt and brimstone and pitch, long before that." And so it was. The Bible says it was a region of sulphur long before the great catastrophe. "Well, now," says some one, wanting to raise a quarrel between science and revelation, "we have no right to say the Cities of the Plain were destroyed by a tempest of fire and sulphur and brimstone, because this region had these characteristics long before these cities were destroyed." Volcanic action, is my reply. These cities had been built out of very combustible materials. The mortar was of bitumen easily ignited, and the walls dripped with pitch most imfammable. They sat, I think, on a ridge of hills. They stood high up and conspicuous, radiant with their sins, ostentatious in their debaucheries, four hells on earth. One day there was a rumbling in the earth, and a quaking. "What's that?" The foundations of the earth were giving way. A volcano, whose fires had been burning for ages, at God's command burst forth, easily setting everything a-flame, and first lifting these cities high in air, and then dashing them down in chasms fathomless. The fires of that eruption intershot the dense smoke, and rolled unto the heavens, only to descend again. And all the configuration of that country was changed, and where there was a hill there came a valley, and where there had been the pomp of uncleanness came widespread desolation. The red hat spade of volcanic action had shoveled under the cities of the plain. Before the catastrophe, the cities stood on the ton of the salt and should a flar and the stand and the cities of the plain. Before the catastrophe, the cities stood on the ton of the salt and subtype. canic action had shoveled under the cifies of the plain. Before the catastrophe, the cities stood on the top of the salt and sulphur. After the catastrophe they were under the salt and sulphur. Science right. Revelation right. "He toucheth the hills and they smoke." No science ever frightened believers in rev-elatian so much as geology. They feared that elatian so much as geology. They feared that the strata of the earth would contradict the scriptures, and then Moses must go under. But as in the Dead Sea instance, so in all cases God's writing on the earth, and God's writing in the Bible are harmonious. The shelves of rock correspond with the shelves of the American Bible Society. Science digs into the earth and finds deep down the remains of plants, and so the Bible announces plants first. Science digs down and says, "Marine animals next," and the Bible says, "Marine animals next." Science digs down and says, "Land animals next." and the Bible responds, "Land animals next." and the Bible responds, "Land animals next." Then comes man!" says science. "Then comes man!" responds the Bible. Science digs into the regions about the Dead Sea, and finds result of fire and masses of brimstone, and announces a wonderful geological formation. "Oh, yes," says the Bible, "Moses wrote thousands of years ago, "The Lord rained upon Sodom and upon Gomorrah brimstone and fire from the Lord out of heaven, and David wrote, 'He toucheth the hills and they smoke.'" So I guess we will hold on to our Bibles a little longer. A gentleman in the ante-room of the white house, at Washington havids an ampointment with Mr. elatian so much as geology. They feared that the strata of the earth would contradict the tleman in the ante-room of the white house, at Washington, havidg an appointment with Mr. Lincoln at 5 o'clock in the morning, got there Lincoln at 5 o'clock in the morning, got there iffteen minutes early, and asked the servant, "Who is talking in the next room?" "It is the president, sir!" "Is anybody with him?" "No, sir; he is reading the Bible. He spends every morning from 4 to 5 o'clock, reading the scriptures."

My text implies that God controls volcanoes not with the full force of his hand, but with the tip of his finger. Etna, Stromboll and Vesuvius fawn at His feet like hounds before the hunter. These eruptions of the hills do not belong to Pluto's realm as the ancients thought, but to the Divine dominions. Hum-thought, but to the Divine dominions. thought, but to the Divine dominions. Humboldt counted 200 of them, but since then the Indian archipelago has been found to have 900 of these great mouthpieces. They are on every continent and in all latitudes. That earthquake which shook all America about six or seven summers ago was only the raving around of volcanoes rushing against the sides of their rocky caverns trying to break out. They must come to the surface, but it will be at the Divine call. They seem reserved for the punishment of one kind of sin. The seven cities the punishment of one kind of sin. The seven cities they have obliterated were celebrated for one kind of transgression. Profligacy was the chief characteristic of the seven cities over which they put their smothering wing: Pompeii, Herculaneum, Stabiæ, Adama, Zeboim, Sodom and Gomorrah. If our American cities do not quit their profligacy, if in high life and low life dissoluteness does not cease to be a joke and become a crime, if wealthy libertinism continues to find so many doors of domestic life open to its faintest touch, if Russian, and French, and American literature, domestic life open to its faintest touch, if Russian, and French, and American literature, steeped in pruriency, does not get banished from the newstands and ladies' parlors, God will let loose some of these suppressed monsters of the earth. And I tell these American cities that it will be more tolerable for Sodom and Gomorrah in the day of judgment, whether that day of judgment be in this present century or in the closing century of the earth's continuance. The volcanic forces are already in existence, but in the mercy of God they are chained in the kennels of subterraneous fire. Yet let profligacy, whether it stagger into a lazaretto or sit on a commercial throne, whether it laugh in a faded shawl under the street gaslight or be wrapped in the finest array that foreign loom ever wrought or lapidary ever empearled, know right well that there is a volcano waiting for it, whether in domestic life, or social life, or political life, or in the foundations of the earth from which sprang out the devastations that swallowed sian, and French, and American literature, sprang out the devastations that swallowed the Cities of the Plain. "He toucheth the hills and they smoke." But the dragoman was rejoiced when we Palestine, and he gladly tightens the girths for another march around the horses which are prancing and neighing for departure. We are off for the Jordan, only two hours away. We pass Bedouins whose stern fea-tures melt into a smile as we give them the salutation Salaam Aleikoum, "Peace be with you," their smile sometimes leaving us in doubt as to whether it is caused by their gladdoubt as to whether it is caused by their glad-ness to see us or by our poor pronunciation of the Arabic. Oh, they are a strange race those Bedouins. Such a commingling of ruffianism, and honor, of cowardice and courage, of cruelty and kindness! When a band of them came down upon a party in which Miss Whately was traveling and were about to take pocket-books and perhaps life, this lady sitting upon her horse took out her note book and pencil, and began to sketch these brig-ands, and seeing this composure, the bandits thought it something supernatural and fled. Christian womanliness or manliness is all-conquering. When Martin Luther was told conquering. When Martin Luther was told that Duke George would kill him if he went to Leipsic, Luther replied, "I would go to Leipsic if it rained Duke Georges nine days."

Now we come through regions where there are hills cut into the shape of cathedrals, with the standard column and tree and change and the standard column and tree and change and the standard columns.

are hills cut into the shape of cathedrais, with altar, and column, and arch, and chancel, and pulpit, and dome, and architecture of the rocks that I think can hardly just happen so. Per-haps it is because God loves the church so well. He builds in the solitudes of Yellowwell. He builds in the solitates of Tellow-stone Park, and Yosemite, and Switzerland, and Palestine, these ecclesiastical piles. And who knows but that unseen spirits may some-times worship there? "Dragoman, when shall we see the Jordan?" I ask. All the time we were on the alert, and looking through tamrisk and willows for the greatest river of all arisk and willows for the greatest river of an the arth. The Mississippi is wider, the Ohio is deeper, the Amazon is longer, the Hudson rolls amid regions more picturesque, the Thames has more splender on its banks, the Tiber suggests more imperial procession, the Ilyssus has more classic memories, and the Nile Ilyssus has more classic memories, and the Nile feeds greater population, by its irrigation; but the Jordan is the queen of rivers and runs through all the Bible, a silver thread strung like beads with heroics, and before night we shall meet on its banks Elijah, and Elisha, and David, and Jacob, and Joshua, and John, and Jesus.

Jesus.

At last between two trees I got a glimpse of a river, and said, "What is that?" "The Jorganian and all slong." At last between two trees I got a glimpse of a river, and said, "What is that?" "The Jordan," was the quick reply. And all along the line which had been lengthened by other pilgrims, some from America, and some from Europe, and some from Asia, the cry was sounded "The Jordan! The Jordan!" Hundreds of thousands of pilgrims have chanted on its banks and bathed in its waters. Many of them'dip a wet gown in the wave and wring it out and carry it home for their own shroud. It is an impetuous stream and rushes on as though it were hastening to tell its story to the ages. Many an explorer has it whelmed, and many a boat has it wrecked. Lleutenant Molineux had copper-bottomed crafts split upon its shelvings. Only one boat, that of Lieutenant Lynch, ever lived to sail the whole length of it. At the season when the snows on Lebanon melt, the rage of this stream is like the Conemaugh when Johnstown perished, and the wild beasts that may be near run for the hills, explaining what Jeremiah says: "Behold he shall go up like a lion from the swelling of Jordan." No river so often changes its mind, for it turns and twists, traveling 200 miles to do that which in a straight line might be done in sixty miles. Among banks now low, now high, now of rock, now of mud, and now of sand, laving the feet of the terebinths and oleanders, and acacias, and reeds, and pistachios, and silver poplars. This river marries the Dead Sea to Lake Gailiee, and did ever so rough a groom take the hand of so fair a bride?

This is the river which parted to let an army of 2,000000 Israelites across. Here the fair a bride?

This is the river which parted to let an army of 2,000000 Israelites across. Here the skilled major general of the Syrian hest, at the seventh plunge, dropped his leprosy, not only by mirsculous cure, but suggesting to all ages that water, and plenty of it, has much to do with the sanitary improvement of the world. Here is where some theological students of Elisha's time were cutting trees with which to build a theological seminary, and an ax-head not sufficiently wedged to the handle flew off into the river and sank, and the young man deplored not so much the loss of the ax-head as the fact that it was not his own, and cried, "Alas! it was borrowed," and the prophet three a stick into the river and, in defiance of the law of gravitation, the iron ax-head came to the surface and floated like a cork upon the water, and kept floating until the young man caught it. A miracle performed to give one an opportunity to return that which was borrowed, and a rebuke in all ages for those who borrow and never return, their bad habit in this respect so established that it would be a miracle if they did return it. Yea, from the bank of this river Elijah took team of fire, slowing that the most raging element is servant of the good, and that there is no need that a child of God fear anything; for, if the most destructive of all elements was that day fashioned into a vehicle for a departing saint, nothing can ever hurt you who love and trust the Lord. I am so glad that that charlot of Elijah was not made out of wood, or crystal, or anything ordinarily pleasant, but out of fire, and yet he went up without having so much as to fan himself. When, stepping from amid the foliage of these oleanders and tamarisks on the banks of the Jordan, he put his foot on the red step of the red equipage, and took the red reins of vapor in his hands, and spurred the galloping steeds to the wide open gate of heaven, it was a scene forever memorable. So the hottest afflictions of your life may roll you heavenward. So the most burning persecutions, the most fiery troubles, may become uplifting. Only be sure that when you pull on the bits of fire, you drive upward toward God, and not downward towards the Dead Sea. When Latimer and Ridley died at the stake, they went up that when you pull on the bits of fire, you drive upward toward God, and not downward towards the Dead Sea. When Latimer and Ridley died at the stake, they went up in a chariot of fire. When my friend, P. P. Blas, the gospel singer, was consumed with the railtrain that broke through Ashtabula bridge, and then took flame, I said: "Another Elijah gone up in a chariot of fire?"

But this river is a river of baptisms. Christ was here baptized, and John baptized many thousands. Whether on these occasions the candidate or baptism and the officer of religion went into this river, and then, while both were standing the water was dipped in the hand of one and sprinkled upon the forehead of the other, or whether the entire form of the one baptized disappeared for a moment beneath the surface of the flood, I do not now declare. While I cannot think without deep emotion of the fact that my parents held me in infancy to the baptismal font in the old meeting house at Somerville, and assumed vows on my behalf, I must tell you wow of another mode of baptism observed in the river Jordan, on that afternoon in last December, the particulars of which I now for the first time relate.

It was a scene of unimaginable solemnity.

time relate.

It was a scene of unimaginable solemnity. A comrade in our Holy Land journey rode up by my side that day, and told me that a young man, who is now studying for the gospel ministry, would like to be baptized by me in the river Jordan. I got all the facts I could concerning his earnestness and faith, and through personal examination made myself confident he was a worthy candidate. There were among our Arab attendants two robes not unlike those used for American baptistries, and like those used for American baptistries, and these we obtained. As we were to have a large group of different nationalities present, I dictated to my daughter a few verses, and had copies enough made to allow all to sing. Our dragoman had a man familiar with the river, wade through and across to show the depth and the swiftness of the stream, and the most appropriate place for the ceremony. Then I read from the Bible the accounts of bantisms in that sarred stream and implement like those used for American baptistries, and baptisms in that sacred stream, and implored the presence of the Christ on whose head the dove descended at the Jordan. Then, as the candidate and myself stepped into the waters, the people on the banks sang in full and resounding voice:

On Jordan's stormy banks I stand,
And cast a wishful eye
To Canaan's fair and happy land
Where my possessions lie.
Oh, the transporting, rapturous scene
That rises to my sight:
Sweet fields arrayed in living green,
And rivers of delight.

And rivers of designs.

By this time we had reached the middle of the river. As the candidate sank under the floods and rose again under a baptism in the name of the Father and the Son and the Holy Chast, there rushed through our souls a tide name of the Father and the son and the law; Ghost, there rushed through our souls a tide of holy emotion such as we shall not probably feel again until we step into the Jordan that divides earth from heaven. Will those waters be deep? Will those tides be strong? No matter, if Jesus steps in with us. Friends on divides earth from neaven. Will those waters be deep? Will those tides be strong? No matter, if Jesus steps in with us. Friends on this shore to help us off. Friends on the other shore to see us land. See! They are coming down the hill on the other side to greet us. How well we know their step! How easily we distinguish their voices! From bank to bank we hall them with tears and they hall us with palm branches. They say to us, "Is that you, father?" "Is that you, mother?" and we you, father?" 'Is that you, mother?" and we answer by asking, "Is that you, my darling?" How near they seem, and how narrow the stream that divides us!

"Could we but stand where Moses stood And view the landscape o'er, Not Jordan's stream nor Death's cold flood Could fright us from the shore."

Pure, Brilliant, Perfect. Authentic Living Testimonials from Distinguished Generals and Statesmen

In Favor of Hawkes' New Crystallized Lenses Over All Others.

Testimonials from the leading physicians in the United States, governers, senators, legislators, stockmen, men of note in all professions and in different branches of trade, bankers, mechanics, etc., can be given who have had their sight improved by their use.

These glasses have won the admiration of all who have used them. They can be worn any length of time at one sitting and give a marvelous clearness of vision. They stand unrivaled in their splendid reputation.

velous clearness of vision. They stand diffivated in their splendid reputation.

Mr. Hawkes not only has the best glasses, but carefully examines the eye of each patient, and gives indespensable advice as to the proper selection of glasses, having had an experience of eighteen years in this branch of science.

SPECTACLE FRAMES Are an important part to be considered in the selection of spectacles. Some persons are very broad between the eyes, while others are quite narrow. It being necessary that the axis of the eye and that of the lenses should coincide, great care should be taken in their selection.

We give a few illustrations of perfect and imperfect fitting eye-glass and spectacle frames below.

Figures 4 and 5 represent incorrect fitting eyeglasses.

IMITATIONS.

The market is full of imitations, represented to be the same as Hawkes' new crystallized lenses. These imitations are, in most cases, productive of positive injury to the eyes of the wearer. Many dealers will recommend inferior spectacles and eye-glasses, and those of lower price, which afford more profit to themselves.

Manufacturing Department.

We are now prepared to MAKE TO ORDER spectacles and eye-glasses of every description, which will be equal in finish and workmanship to any glasses made in the United States. Oculists' prescriptions will be filled with accuracy and dispatch.

The Trouble in South Carolina. The political situation in South Carolina es more alarming every day. The apeals of the representative press of that to the people to unite and support the ular democratic ticket are unavailing. party is split into factions, and it seems be an every-man-for-himself fight-a const of personal and selfish ambition in which be permanent welfare of the state seems to e a secondary consideration.

The political outlook grows gloomier ery day, and that it is nearing a fateful ax is evident from the stirring appeals hich the South Carolina newspapers are aking and their prophecies of the danger In a recent issue The Charleston

Judge Haskell and his defeated clique have apcaled from the majority decision of the men of

And he invites their support now, not that they may share with him in political power, but that hey may help rivet upon the white majority the political disabilities as those under which vote had been rendered "passive," to use e Haskell's own word in his first manifesto We do not clearly see—we think no man clearly s working out. That it is to some good purpose we at as implicitly as we believe that God is wise t, for the present, it seems to us that "men ave lost their reason.

Strong words, but the situation seems to arrant them. The great danger lies in he Haskell movement. Against the marity, voice and wisdom of the democratic party this movement is going on. The groes have been appealed to, and have ered the fight against the regular democratic nominees. The seeds of discord have en sown broadcast and disrupting infiunces are at work everywhere.

It is a sad state of affairs. "In the name

f God," says The Charleston Sun, "where do we stand?" Let us hope that the true democratic party of South Carolina will swer that question with ringing emphasis then its enemies are routed and it stands riumphant after the battle.

The fight will be bitter and determined but if the loval democrats do their duty they ill save the state, if, indeed, it is saved as Great Men and Small Matters. It is a great mistake to suppose that the reat men and millionaires of the world igre the small affairs of life.

From Napoleon down the most successful en have always been noted for their masery of details and for their close attention to little things. Prince Bismarck, for inance, does not give his entire time to the natters that are discussed by courts and cabinets. He watches his farming interests and last year he cleared $40,000 on his cattle, geese and various minor products.

Mr. Gladstone is a literary man as well as statesman, and a stranger would naturally trifle as money. The very reverse is the ise. The grand old man is opposed to all forms of extravagant expenditure. Both he nd Mrs. Gladstone are economical almost to penuriousness in their personal expenses.

This economy extends to food, dress and

Our great millionaire, Mr. C. P. Huntingon, when a boy working in a store, made it point to pick up every little nail. He did ot wait until he found a big one before exng himself. He is now sixty years old out he still considers the details of business s important as the results. He works parder than his clerks from 7:30 o'clock in the morning to 6 in the afternoon, and pernally supervises his vast interests.

To a really great man nothing is too small or his consideration. When he has a forne at his disposal he does not waste it. Some of his expenditures may startle his neighbors, but there is a method in his apnt extravagance.

Many a young man has been misled by 30b Ingersoll's advice. "If you have only half a dollar," said the eloquent infidel, spend it like a prince." This is well gh, but it should be recollected that a rince-such a prince as Bismarckws the value of half a dollar, and when ends it he gets his money's worth in ne shape or other. The proper utilizaon of the small things—the trifles of life the foundation of success.

Deputy Marshals : the Polls. The report comes from Washington that lean bosses have decided to crowd s polls next week marshals. lls next week with gangs of armed A section of the federal revised statutes rizes the employment of deputy marals and supervisors in cities of over 20,000 ants, and this authority, which was stended to be used in a discretionary sense, Il be stretched to the fullest extent. In section will be made to take the of a force bill.

e deputies may be employed for ten at a compensation of $5 a day. Under ident Cleveland the few deputies ened were limited to five days' service, but ey General Miller will make himself th his party by hiring men for the m of ten days. Of course, it is simply to organize this small army for litical crusade of ten days. In some of ge cities it is probable that the polls surrounded by republican toughs g the badges of federal deputies, and ols in their pockets. ne people will stand it, the effort may bulldoze the voters of New Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cinand Kansas City by stationing from to 100 deputies at each polling place. lat is the remedy? We know of none, but it is rumored that such democratic governors as Hill, Campbell, Fleming and Francis will send as many deputy sheriffs to the polls as there are deputy marshals, to see that democratic voters are protected from the assaults of republican ruffians. This would mean trouble, but at any cost the democrats must get to the polls next month and deposit their ballots. A free people cannot afford to neglect a single opportunity of regaining their rights.

If the republican bosses and their hirelings disturb the peace at the November elections they will be met by men who know their rights and are determined to maintain them.

Will They Wake Up?

One week from tomorrow will occur the elections that are to settle a number of issues of vital importance to this country. At that time the voters are to inform us whether the methods of the republican party are to be longer tolerated in legislative affairs-whether the tyranny of the speaker and the extravagance of the republican leaders in wasting the people's money are to prevail-whether the farmers and workingmen are willing to submit without a protest to the largely increased burdens of tariff taxation whether the movement in the direction of centralization is to be permitted to make further progress-and last, but not by any means least, whether the southern whites are to be partly disfranchised by a bayonet election law, southern congressmen ousted, and the business and industrial prosperity of the south seriously interfered with if not entirely destroyed.

The election, for many reasons, is the most important that has been held in this country for years. Under these circumstances, the apathy of the leading democrats, to which THE CONSTITUTION has been compelled to call attention from time to time, is more than surprising-it is alarming. With some little experience in politics, we have never seen a parallel to this extraordinary condition of affairs,

With only one week for active campaign work, the democratic leaders appear to be sound asleep, or, if awake, utterly indifferent to the issues at stake. The New York World, of Saturday, observing the situation to be as THE CONSTITU-TION has described it from time to time, has an editorial address to the democratic leaders, urging them to "Wake Up!"

It is certainly time that this waking up should take place. When the campaign opened the democratic prospects were never brighter. Only a reasonably active canvass was necessary to put the republicans on the defensive. The leaven of the alliance had been working among the farmers of the west and northwest, and they would have been easily persuaded to vote with the democrats against the unjust taxation of the Mc-Kinley bill, against the un-American tendencies of the entire republican programme. If there is democratic defeat on the fourth of November, the responsibility must rest on those who are supposed to have control of the democratic

As The World says, the democratic national committee has done nothing. The congressional committee has done nothing and is doing nothing. On the ther hand, the two republican committees are as active and as vigorous as if the presidency depended on the election. Where are the prominent democrats who ought to be taking part in the campaign at the invitation of the congressional committee? They are not to be found. Governor Hill has made a notable canvass in McKinley's district, and has extended it into West Virginia, but he went into Ohio at the request of Mr. Warwick, who is McKinley's opponent. Judge Crisp is taking a hand in the campaign in New York city and in Boston, but the congressional committee probably had nothing to do with his appearance at either place. If the committee is dead it ought to be decently interred, and if it is alive it ought to be disbanded.

We have heard nothing from ex-President Cleveland, who, as a prominent democrat and a probable candidate for the democratic nomination, ought to have made his influence felt in the campaign. There are other well-known democrats who might have followed the example of Governor Hill and Judge Crisp, but they have probably been holding themselves in readiness for an invitation from the congressional committee.

As we have said, the republican campaign has been unusually active and vigorous. Mr. Harrison did not regard it beneath his dignity to inaugurate the campaign in Ohio, Mr. Blaine is helping out, Mr. Reed is stumping in the west, and the chairman of the republican national committee, shrewd, skillful and unscrupulous, is straining every nerve to secure a republican majority in the next house.

The democratic leaders, with all the opportunities of the situation in their favor, are doing next to nothing. When will they wake up?

The McKinley Tariff.

The New York Sun good-humoredly took THE CONSTITUTION to task the other day for treating the tariff as a very serious issue in the present campaign, remarking that it was an issue on which the democrats would divide, whereas the force bill is an issue on which they are united.

We desire now to call the attention of The Sun to the fact that Governor Hill, who seems to be something of a favorite with Mr. Dana, as he is with a good many other democrats, has not hesitated to treat the republican tariff as an issue in his admirable mpaign speeches in the west; and it is not much to say that he has fairly riddled it. He has not criticised it in the formal and general manner that is popular with the average campaiga orator, who thinks that denunciation is more effective than argument, but he has taken up the law itself, and applied the simplifying process of common sense to it, so that the most ignorant among his hearers could understand the results of the law and the purposes of those who framed it. THE CONSTITUTION is of the opinion that The Sun is inclined to belittle the serious results of the McKinley law. Governor Hill has very clearly outlined the democratic position so far as the policy of protection is concerned—it has already been set forth in the platforms of 1884 and 1888-but if the democratic attitude toward the McKinley law is not one of uncompromising hostility then the party might as well give the republicans a quit-claim deed to the government and retire from business.

An Outrageous Slander.

The fight being made against Colonel Livingston, the democratic nominee for congress from this district, should impress on the democrats of the district the necessity of turning out in force on the day of the election.

The desperate effort of the republicans to send a representative to congress who will credit this district with a vote in favor of the McKinley tariff imposition and the Lodge force bill, and other republican outrages, is shown in the manner of campaign being waged against the democratic nominee.

Forgery is the last resort of the opponents of Colonel Livingston, and the letter that is being circulated as having been written by him, reference to which is made elsewhere, conclusively demonstrates the fact that the republican party of this district is no better than it is elsewhere.

It appears that in the desperation of the republican situation the happy idea struck some of those who were trying to defeat the voice of the democratic party, that it would be well to write a letter for Colonel Livingston and attribute sentiments to him which would be condemned by the people of the district. It was a very little matter to publish such a letter over Colonel Livingston's signature, and accordingly the forgery has been scattered broadcast over the district.

This outrageous slander is in keeping with the programme that has been outlined to defeat the party's action. It will be repudiated at the polls, and the democratic nominee will, of course, be elected by an overwhelming majority. It is the duty of the democrats of the district to see that such is the result.

A Candid Confession.

Our esteemed contemporary, The Omaha World-Herald, gives the public a short chapter on the McKinley bill which speaks volumes. It is simply a brief telegram sent by Congressman Dorsey, of Nebraska, to Sonator M. S. Quay, and is as follows:

Fremont, Neb., October 20.—[M. S. Quay, Beaver Falls, Pa.]—Have manufacturers quote lower prices, and deny that the Mc-Kinley bill raises prices. If this is not done it will cost thousands of votes in Nebraska.

This is certainly a candid confession, and the republicans stand self-convicted as to the true nature of the McKinley bill. As it is a bill which was designed to benefit the manufacturers, they are now requested to lower their prices until after the election; at which time, if the republicans are successful, they can put prices up again and the public can take the late Mr. Vanderbilt's advice and be as miserable as circumstances will allow.

In regard to this eloquent telegram The World-Herald says it is genuine, and adds: 'There may, however, be those who will doubt the authenticity of this telegram. Perhaps even Mr. Dorsey may deny it. Should he have the hardihood to do this The World-Herald will make proof of the fact. Congressman Dorsey sent the message and if he denies doing so The World-Herald will undertake to prove the fact to the satisfaction of all fair-minded people.'

This confession of Congressman Dorsey is an open one, and is therefore "good for the But we make no question that if the rest of the advocates of McKinley's infamous tariff bill were to speak out in meeting. their testimony would be on a par with that of this Nebraska congressman.

Their object is to main-tain their organization at all hazards and evident'y at all results. But Mr. Platt is in it for no other end than what it may serve for in 1892. His ticket is not for victory, but he hopes to stagger and check the democratic strength at the point where its most telling victories are achieved. Since he has first entered the field of national politics he has labored for that to the subordination of all other considerations. That is what he is here now for; and for the democrat who joins him and helps him there is neither concealment no apology.

It is the duty of every democrat who votes in New York county to register and afterward vote for Hugh J. Grant. The Tammany ticket is dem-ocratic from its foundation, and upon its success alone can further party victories be built.

With such a warning the genuine democrats of New York are bound to support the Tammany ticket. The aim of the coalition is to control the machinery of the campaign and the election in 1892, so that the state of New York and its electoral vote can be delivered into the hands of the republicans.

The county democrats should not be allowed to repeat their treacherous conduct of two years ago. Their scheme must be nipped in the bud, and the only way to do it is to stand by Tammany.

A NEW YORKER, who has recently been spend ing a month in Philadelphia establishing a branch of his business there, has gone back to New York full of stories about the fondness of the people of the Quaker City for blood and family. "I have never," he said, "seen anything quite so startling as the excitement over there by the arrival of the count of Paris and his suite. People spoke in we-stricken tones of the French prete they seemed to be utterly unaware that the par-ticular article of which the count is so brilliant an ticular article of which the count is so brilliant an example, is so common in Europe that royal pretenders scarcely claim a glance in a passing crowd. The count himself seemed entirely at ease amid the tremendous homage that was paid him, but it must have caused him to ponder over the sinister fashion of republicanism of the people of one of the towns in this republic. I have not yet recovered from the name Biddle. Perhaps well can seek it without allowing an area, stricken. you can speak it without a'lowing an awe-stricken tone to permeate your voice, but there is not a man, woman or child in the whole of Philadelphia who can say 'Biddle' without exhibiting reverence by a cast of the eye or a hushed and nervous fone. The Biddles in Philadelphia are so great that the Astors are not mentioned in the same breath with them, and their name pervades the town. It is curious, because nobody ever hears of them outside of the Quaker City limits.'

with cruelty and treachery. THE NEW YORK CHRONICLE, a life insurance journal, has unearthed a new swindling scheme. It is nothing more or less than the insurance of dissipated compositors, who are willing to become, for a consideration, "tools" in the hands of the men who inaugurated the scheme. It appears that a man named Jones has a number of agents, chief among whom is one Caldwell, on the lookout for printers or compositors who are out of work and nearly dead from dissipation. When a fit subject is found he is given a Turkish bath, a new suit of clothes and is taken to some quiet country place to restore his shattered nerves to something like his normal condition. He is then taken to a company's office and when he receives his policy he gives it to Jones, who calmly wait for the man to die. The Chronicle learned of the scheme early in 1889 and has since been investigating it. The affidavit of one of the conspirators, named Regan, has been secured. He says that after a brief sojourn in New Jersey he was soon in good enough condition to take out two policies on his life, one for $3,000 from the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and another for $2,500 from the Equitable Life Assurance Company. Regan was paid $42.50 and was taken before a notary where he signed over the policies to Jones. It i said that the conspirators sometimes receive premiums from the companies for the securing of the customers.

GOSSIP IN THE CORRIDORS.

Colonel T. L. Gantt, editor of The Athens Banner, spent Saturday in Atlanta, and was seen at the Kimball. Colonel Gantt said: "I have been in conference with alliance men all over the state, and Gordon, I am convinced, is defeated by between forty and sixty votes. Among the strongest opponents to his election are his old soldiers. I have met a large number of those and have not yet found a man living outside of a town or city except those who are directly or indirectly con-nected with some pursuit other than agriculture—but is strongly anti-Gordon. In my own section, out of thirty-two counties I do not believe that Gordon will receive according termined in their opposition as they are to General Gordon. I have visited them at their homes, made speeches to them and talked with them separately and collectively, and I do not believe there is one farmer out of one hundred who is today favorable to Gordon for the senate.

'The alliancemen have heard of Gordon's war record and are ready at any time to honor and reward him if they can do so without sacrificing their platform and their principles. that this fight has assumed even broader pro-portions than the subtreasury plan; it is an sue between the politicians and the people. The future power and very existence of alliance are now in the balance. If Gordon is elected it means a humiliating defeat to their organization: if he is defeated it gives the alliance a strength and influence that no power can down. As an evidence of this fact you will find every man and every paper that has been fighting the alliance movement from its inception are avowed advocates of Gordon, while the farmers who have heretofore honored and supported him are now his opponents.

He is a fine speaker and excites the greatest enthusiasm whenever he appears. He is, moreover, a close observer, and is making a thorough canvass of the district. The democrats are thoroughly aroused as to the importance of the campaign, and are organizing throughout the district. Committees have been appointed and competent speakers will address the voters until the day of the election, and I see no cause to be alarmed at the result of the election. As I remarked, Colonel Moses will receive a larger democratio majority than ever before in the district.

There was not a republican or a railroad man on the committee which formulated it. "Now as to another charge. I want to say that neither John H. Inman nor any other person connected with the Rich-mond and Danville railroad ever made any proposition either directly or indirectly to me, or anyone connected with the alliance, looking to an alliance or federation with our people for any purpose whatever. I imagine it was gotten up by my republican opponents who have received encouragement from the alleged Jeffersonian movement which died still, born. But for that movement of the opposition to the majority of the democratic party of the district there would have been no slanders like this. Yes, the republicans are evidently being nrged on by a few men who are seeking to disrupt the democratic party for their own per-sonal aggrandizement."

APPEALS FOR DEMOCRATIC AC-

He Calls Upon the Democrats of the Fifth District to Rally to the Support of the Nominee.

GRIFFIN, GA., October 26 .- Congressman John D. Stewart is out in a vigorous letter in the interest of Colonel Livingston, the demo

Judge Will Haight, of Atlanta, the republican candidate for congress, was in Griffin lass week overlooking the ground he has to contest with Hon. Leonidas F. Livingston, democratic candidate for the same position. Judge Haight said he found men in and out of the Farmers' Alliance who would support him. He did not vouchsafe a prediction of the result. His coming brought this letter of warning from Hon. Jno. D. Stewart to the voters in the interest of Colonel Livingston. Following is the letter: TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF THE FIFTH CON-GRESSIONAL DISTRICT. We are on the eve of an important election, one which calls for the active co-operation of every democratic voter. The democratic nominee is opposed by a republican. The statement of this fact ought to make plain our duty. I need not recount before your minds the conduct of the re-publican party. You know that it is aggressive in action, oppressive in power, audacious in method and replete in venality. It has but recently fastened upon the country a most oppressive tariff measure known in the history of our government, and it menaces the peace of each commonwealth by threatening to pass an election bill, which is an insult to the people, by declaring that they have not the intelligence and integrity to hold a free and fair election.

If we by indifference elect the democratic nom-inee by a bare majority it will but furnish a pretext to have his seat contested and have the position filled by a republican.

As democrats we form an integral part of that great brotherhood to whose party conduct we can point with pride—a party of whose strength we should be proud and of whose honor we should be jealous. It therefore take this method as an humble citizen to appeal to my fellow-democrats throughout this district to exert themselves in electing the democratic nominee by such a majority as will not only secure the nomined elected, but will make a contest appear ridicucontest appear ridiculous to every impartial mind.

John D. Stewart.

Garrett was walking along the track when the south-bound passenger train came along. He stepped upon the track just in front of the engine, and was struck before the engineer ould stop the machine. Garrett was under the influence of liquor at the time, and being in that condition did not realize his danger.

The injuries he sustained were very serious, and will most probably prove fatal.

FROM OUR NOTEBOOKS.

A Coroner's Inquest .- The verdict of the coroner's jury which investigated the killing of Ben Oliver Thursday night, was that he came to his death by a rifle ball fired from the hands of one George Washington. Washington has not yet been captured.

A Gallant Leader .- In the great sham battle of Friday the northern line was in command of Captain Hardeman, of the Floyd Rifles. Captain Hardeman, besides being one of the most gallant commanders of the citizen soldiery of the state, was one of the bravest of the soldiers of '61, and, at the front of the charge Friday, was at home.

Two Fires .- Yesterday morning about 6:30 the fire department made a run to 180 East Hunter street, where the dwelling of B. J. Roberts was slightly damaged by being burnt in the roof. Saturday morning the department responded to a call of No. 1 State street, where a small dwelling occupied by a Mr. Johnson and owned by Mr. John Wells was damaged to the extent of about $20.

A Bad Gash .- Robert White, an old white man, was badly cut on the forehead about 8 o'clock Saturday night, by falling upon the street. White was intoxicated, and in crossing the street lost his equilibrium. He fell face forward, his head striking the curbstone and cutting a deep gash several inches long. The skulibone was completely exposed, so deep was the wound. White was brought to the station house and Dr. Van Goidtsnoven attended to his injury.

It Was a Sucker, -Saturday night the Gate City Guard celebrated their victory in the inter-state drill by a frolic at the armory. One of the amusing features of the occasion was a large sucker, which the boys passed around with the remark that it had been caught in the mud at the exposition grounds. The boys were jubilant, and the finny trophy seemed to afford them no little enjoyment. They regarded the fish as a sort of a joke on the other companies, who thought they would have a walk-over.

Georgia Patents.-The following is a complete Georgia Patents.—The following is a complete list of patents granted to the patenties in Georgia in the issue of the week just passed, and is specially reported for The Constitution by A. The total issue for this week comprises 832 patents, 27 of which are to residents of foreign countries. The report of the commissioner of patents for the last fiscal year shows an addition to the patent fund in the treasury of $266,622 which swells the balance to the credit of the patent ofhee in the treasury to the sum of $3,790,556. The number of applications for patent filed during the year was 46,140 and the total number of patents granted was 27,433 list of patents granted to the patentees in Geor-

A FRIGHTENED HORSE on the Driver and Injures Him

Internally.

The circus was the cause of what may prove a fatal accident Saturday morning. About 6 o'cock Nathan Cohen, a white man, who drives a bread wagon for Fuller's bakery, went to the grounds where the circus tents were being pitched with a load of bread for the circus people.

When the borse Cohen was driving caught

When the lorse Cohen was driving caught the scent of the animals of the menagerie, he became frightened. The nearer he approached the snimals the more unmanageable he became, until, when the circus grounds were reached the horse was so much frightened that the driver got out and tried to controlhim by holding by the bridle. But the horse reared and pitched so that Mr. Cohen, with the assistance of several others, finally tied his head close to the fence.

This held him for a few minutes.

As the driver was holding on to the horse's head, he suddenly made a desperate lunge, breaking the shafts of the wagon and also

Mr. Cohen tried to grab the animal, but before he could catch a firm hold of him, he reared up and viciously, striking the driver in the chest with his fore feet, knocked him to the ground.

The horse's feet inflicted a terrible wound on Mr. Cohen's chest, injuring him seriously internally.

Mr. Cohen was taken to his home on Magnolia street in a hack, where a physician was summoned to his assistance.

He is very badly hurt, but whether the injuries will prove fatal cannot yet be known.

A Young Man of Brains .- Hon. W. E. Wooten, of Albany, Ga., is in the city attending the exposition. Mr. Wooten is Georgia's youngest representative in the house, and is the pride of his constituents in Dougherty county. RAILROAD RUMBLINGS.

C., N. O. AND T. P. OFFICERS TO BE ELECTED NEXT MONDAY. Railroad Personals and Topics of General Interest Concerning Railroad Mat-ters in Every Section.

Since the annual meeting of the stockholdters of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Railway Company which was held last Monday, says the Cincinnati Enquirer, conjecture has been rife as to when the new board would organize. The new board will meet in New York on Monday next and elect officers. As has already been announced, Mr. Samuel Thomas, who is president of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railway Company, will be the new president of the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific Company. It is also quite probable that the new directory of the Alabama Great Southern road, which was elected at Birmingbam, Ala., last Wednesday, will organize at New York on Monday next and elect officers. Mr. Thomas will be elected president of the Alabama Great Southern, as well as of the Cinncinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific.

Mr. McQueeny, superintendent of the Houston division of the Southern Pacific railroad, says he has never seen such a freight rush as is being experienced at San Antonio, Tex., just now. All engines were out of the city on Wednesday, and the accumulated freight cannot be moved for want of motize power and cars. It is so everywhere. The Denver Republican says: The great movement of live stock eastward has been the cause of much perplexity to Colorado lines, and especially the Union Pacific and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe. These roads are by no means able to satisfy all the demands of live stock men on account of the lack of cars and motive power. It is stated authoritatively that the Santa Fe is today in need of 2,000 cars to accommodate their increased patronage. One year ago the Santa Fe was leasing to other companies their engines and rolling stock. Today they cannot secure enough for their own purposes. for their own purposes

The Fort Worth Gazette propounds this very pertinent question: "Why is it that western and southwestern railroads will engage in disastrous rate wars and cut deep into freight rates, demoralizing everything connected with railroad and commercial business, when they have not cars sufficient to handle the business offered them, is one of the strangest things connected with railroads. It is a known fact that there is not a road in the southwest or the west that has a sufficiency of southwest or the west that has a sufficiency of freight cars for the business that comes to them. Still there is an eternal war going on between the traight solicitors of the different roads, and secret cuts and crossed billing is continually going on. If the managements of the different roads would pay more attention to their equipments, and put the roads in a position to haul the freight, the roads would fare better and the people would be better

The railroads have never been known to make such poor time in moving freight, says The Fort Worth Gazette, as now. This is due to the heavy traffic which exists, not on a few, but on almost all lines. The Pennsylvania lines, the Baltimore and Ohio, the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton, the Big Four and other roads are overcrowded with freight, and it is not uncommon for cars to be dropped at stations along the line and delayed for several days. Freight agents do not know how to account for the traffic which continues to pour in or the railroads in an unparalleled manin on the railroads in an unparalleled man-ner. On several of the larger lines there have been veritable blockades that have threatened to choke up the channels of commerce.

The decision of Judge Ricks, of the United The decision of Judge Ricks, of the United States district court at Cleveland, dismissing the case against General Passenger Agent Martin, of the Big Four road, says The Railway Roview, and referring the same to the interstate commerce commission for investigation, is, to say the least, calculated to add to the already existing and widely prudent opinion that all hope of competent railroad regulation through the instrumentality of the interstate commerce act might as well be abanstate commerce act might as well be abandoned. Nor will the news that the president has relieved Mr. A. W. Street from the penalty adjudged for his violation of the law alty adjudged for his violation of the law be likely to add to the very slight esteem with which it is now generally regarded by railroad

A serious conflict is about to be inaugurated between the Union Pacific and its eastern con-nections because it demands a larger per cent-age of rates on freight traffic from them than it accepts from its ally, the Chicago and North-western. These roads neutrally object he cause they cannot compete with the North-western if they pay a larger proportion to the Union Pacific than is now the case. The Union Pacific than is now the case. The Union Pacific made the demand upon the Chicago-Omaha roads, but they refused, and on and after the 1st of next month they will not take business from the Union Pacific except that which is absolutely necessary. This will make it bad for the Union Pacific, but it will be beneficial to the Northwestern, which will receive a great deal of traffic formerly sent over the other lines. It will work to the dised the other lines. It will work to the disad vantage of shippers, however.

The northwestern division of the Western The northwestern division of the Western Passenger Association was in session in Chicago on Thursday, to consider the matter of second-class rates between Chicago and St. Paul. This meeting was rendered necessary by the attitude of the Soo line. Previous to the recent abolishment of second-class rates between the points named, the Soo was allowed a difference of $1.00 on this class of tiplots to the east. tickets to the east. It now demands a differ ential on first-class tickets, equal to the differ-ence in price between first and second class

In an interview with your reporter tonight, he stated that it is his intention to build the ne stated that it is his intention to build the road just as soon as the right of way is secured. This road means that Catoosa and Cherokee Springs will be made the leading resorts of Georgia.

The new grain rates which went into effect Friday are proving a disturbing element with railroad men just now. The agents of the lines ending at Kansas City are worrying over the question whether they can take grain out of there while the western lines refuse to prorate. It has been stated that the remainder of the rate on wheat would be 5 or 7 cents and the Alton has signified its willingness to accept the freight on these figures. As a matter of course the other lines will follow suit so far as wheat is concerned, but just what will be done with other grain taking a different rate has not been determined.

Railroad Notes.

It is announced that the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific has begun the work of extending its line into Texas. It is said that engineers are already making the necessary surveys for a line running south from Mingo, I. T., which is now the terminus of the Rock Island system in that direction.

The railway mail service of the United States has, during the past two years and a half, been increased at a most wonderful rate. Fully 25,000 miles of new road were added. The greater number of new routes was in the west.

The Big Four has established interlocking signals at eleven railway crossings on this system, and will largely increase the number within the next twelve months. These signals, complete, cost an average of $2,200 each.

The Pullman Palace Car Company has given no-tice that on October 27th it will move before Judge Gresham for a permanent injunction re-straining the Wagner Company from infringing on the vestibule patent.

The Englishman does not object to traveling in his native country in the third-class carriages. They are used by the majority of all classes of society and both sexes. The rate of fare in Great Britain for third-class transportation is a penny per mile, which entities the passenger to a seat, under the laws governing railroads, and this class of coach is attached to the fast trains.

Another joint meeting of the Trunk Line and Central Traffic Associations is to be held in New York in a few days to resume the consideration of plans to get Leight rates advanced.

Work is expected to commence at once on the Waxahachie extension of the Dallas, Texas and Greenville railroad. Ties are being hauled and everything put in readiness to push the work rapidly through. The Chicago and Eastern Illinois will soon be in the market for ten heavy freight engines. The lighter engines will either be sold or used on its branches.

The Memphis route announces a through bomble service between Kansas City, Joplin, Webb City, Pittsburg and Galena, commencing next Sunday evening.

EUROPE IN ADVANCE OF AMERICA

Nothing is more marked than the great advance of Europe over America in the treat-ment of Throat, Lung and Catarrhal diseases. Many have inquired the reason, but the secret is due to the fact that in Europe they employ nature's remedes and not pre-pared preparations. It is this which has made many of their springs so notorious. Places like Soden are throughly with visitors, but all cannot go to these lesirable places, and those who cannot, but who are suffering from throat and lung diseaset, can carry the spring around with them in their vest pocket in the shape of little trocles. The Scden Mineral Pastils are unhestatingly recom-mended by Sir Morrell Mackenzie, Dr. Koch and other famous imperial physicians. These will cure when other remedies fail.

Obtain only the genuine imported article, which must have the signature and recom-mendation of Sir Morrell Mackenzie with each box. None other are genuine Oct 27 top col n r m hese important organs are deranged.

these important organs are deranged.

The Kidneys are bean-shaped, filled with veins, arteries and little tubes; these tubes filter the water from the blood; the water thus collected is poured into the ureters, and by them conducted into the bladder.

Another function of the Kidneys is to eliminate urea urid acid and other waste products which so quickly poison the whole system if left to course through the blood.

Now, when the Kidneys become diseased, and fail to discharge their important functions, the skin, liver, bowels and lungs undertake the work of elimination—a work these organs are unfitted to perform.

Trotting Dog "Doc." There will be a great trot today on the track at Piedmont exposition, between the famous trotting dog "Doe" and "Blue Shield," one of the Indians in Pawnee Bill's camp. "Doc" entered two races last Saturday and won both of them. The dog is a wonderful animal. He only weighs fifty-two pounds, and yet carries a sulky and rider around the track at an amazing speed.

The race today will be exciting.

"Blue Shield" is a famous Indian runner at long distance. He has frequently won prizes for his speed in half mile and mile races, and it will be a very close and thrilling run be-tween him and Doc.

Fifty dollars is the purse on each side, and Mr. Ketchum, the owner of "Doc" offers as a gift $25 to the Indian runner if he is swift enough to beat the dog to the wire.

This race will be one of the most novel and at the same time one of the most interesting features of the exposition programme

FIGHTING A MAD DOG.

CAPTAIN E. M. BOBERTS HAS QUITE

He Attacks a Mad Dog with a Buggy Whip to Protect a Lady's Pet, and Finally Puts the Beast to Flight.

A hand-to-hand fight with a mad dog.

That is the experience Captain E. M.
Roberts had Saturday.

It was an exciting and dangerous fight, but by presence of mind and courage Captain Roberts came out the victor.

This is the way it heavesed. This is the way it happened:

Captain Roberts was driving along Simpson street toward Hunter, in a very thickly settled portion of the city, when his attention was attracted to a small dog and a large dog fight-

Near by was a lady pushing a baby carriage with a baby in it. She also had with her two other children.

The small dog belonged to the lady, and when Captain Roberts drove up she was try-ing to coax it to her. Captain Roberts at a glance saw that there was something wrong with the larger dog. He suspected that it was either mad or going

He got out of his buggy and with his whip tried to separate the two dogs.

After getting three or four good licks with the whip the dogs ran underneath the baby carriage which the lady was pushing.

The captain followed up the attack and finally succeeded in diverting the large dog's at-tention from the little dog to him.

Then followed a most exciting fight. The dog, which was of considerable size. rushed viciously at Captain Roberts, his eyes glowing fiercely and savagely.

Captain Roberts lashed the beast furiously with his whip, but without forcing him to re-The dog was crouching for a spring, when Captain Roberts, realizing his danger, and almost in a defenceless condition, quickly turned the whip in his hand and dealt the beast a hard blow on the head with the butt end.

The blow was swiftly followed by another and another, until the dog turned and ran into a field near at hand.

Acting upon Captain Roberts's advice, the

and a Connecticut Lady Yesterday. There was a happy marriage at the Markham house Saturday. The high contracting parties were Mr. W. S. Lathrop, of South Pittsburg, Tenn., and Miss Addie J. Charter, of Manchester, Conn. Rev. Dr. J. William Jones performed the ceremony. Mr. Lathrop has been in the city for a week or more awaiting the arrival of his bride to be. Friday night Miss Charter reached Atlanta, and Saturday morning Dr. Jones was called in and the happy couple joined in the holy bans of matrimony. The bride and groom are yet at the Markham.

FORTUNES MADE IN A DAY.

The Ups and Downs of a Recent Discovery.

Not long since an explorer in Siam found sapphires in a remote and secluded spot. Some men whose suspicions had been aroused, followed him into the mine and brought back to Calcutta a number of valuable stones. The secret soon got out and a rush ensued; thousands of adventurers rushed to the mines and the wildest excitement prevailed. The lucky ones realized sudden fortune, but more of them lost their lives from hardships and jungle fever.

A poorly clad and miserable-looking miner who came to Calcutta, exhibited a few small stones, but after a good deal of coaxing was induced to give a private view of a great prize, which was a sapphire, and in the rough was worth $10,000. On account of secrecy observed in mining, it is impossible to find out the total value of stones found.

One man found a stone which he offered at first for $500, but did not find a purchaser. He went to Rangoon, where he was offered $7,500, but declined it; subsequently he sold it in Calcutta for $15.000.

In the matter of sapphires, rubies and diamonds, Atlanta has the most experienced GEM merchants in the south. They get their goods directly from the cutters in Europe, and offer really fine stones at the same price that many dealers ask for imperfect ones.

We refer to Messrs. J. P. Stevens & Bro., Jewelers, No. 47 Whitehall St., who have just received an invoice of precious stones from Europe.

Wright, Pav Paw Ford, Tenn., says: "In my practic, I invariably prescribe Ayer's Sarsaparila for chronic diseases of the blood."

Dr. R. R. Boyle, Third and Oxford sts., Philladelphia, Pa., writes: "For two years I have prescribed Ayer's Sarsaparilla in numerous instances, and I find it highly efficacious in the treatment of all disorders efficacious in the treatment of all disorders

L. M. Robinson, Pharmacist, Sabina, O., certifies: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has always been a great seller. My customers think there is no blood-purifier equal to it."
"For many years I was afflicted with screening reported. "For many years I was afflicted with scrofulous running sores, which, at last became so bad the doctors advised amputating one of my legs to save my life. I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla and soon saw an improvement. After using about two dozen bottles the sores were healed. I continue to take a few bottles of this medicine each year, for my blood, and am no longer troubled with sores. I have tried other reputed blood-purifiers, but none does so much good as Ayer's Sarsaparilla."—D. A. Robinson, Neal, Kansas.
